DETAILED ACTION

The following action is in response to the amendment received September 25, 2008. Claims 19-38 are pending.

Drawings

The replacement sheets of drawings were received on September 25, 2008. These drawings are acceptable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 19-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In line 28 of claim 19, "the first operating means supply channel or space" lacks a proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3655

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 19-21, 23, 24, 26, 27, 29-36 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yokoyama et al.('999). The Yokoyama et al. device discloses a starting unit comprising an input 12, an output 14, and a starting element in the form of a hydrodynamic component comprising a primary blade wheel 16 and a secondary blade wheel 18 which form a working chamber. An engaging and disengaging clutch is provided at 22 and has one element connected to the input and one element connected to the output. Housing 30, 34 surrounds the blade wheels and forms an adjoining chamber 78. A first adjusting device of the engaging and disengaging clutch is situated in the adjoining chamber. The Yokoyama et al. device further includes a means for influencing the transmission behavior of the hydrodynamic device including a mechanical built-in part 20. A second adjusting device 88, 90 is assigned to the mechanical built-in part and means are provided to subject the adjusting device to differential pressure resulting from the supply channel 84, which also supplies pressure to the adjoining chamber and first adjusting device. The second adjusting device is a piston cylinder arrangement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 22, 25, 28 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yokoyama et al.('999) in view of Holler et al.(US 2003/0168298 A1). These claims require that the pressure medium be coupled via a valve. The Yokoyama et al. device does not show a valve controlling the pressure applied to passages 72 and 86. It is submitted that a person having ordinary skill in this art would have found it obvious to control the fluid applied to a hydrodynamic component and clutch by using a valve. Use of a valve in such a device is shown in Holler et al. at II, e.g., Fig. 3A. Using such a valve in Yokoyama et al. would have been obvious since the combination would have yielded predictable results to one having ordinary skill in this art.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 19-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3655

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
